Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

This communication is responsive to Amendment, filed 02/07/2005.

Claims 1-17 are pending in this application.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mack et al. ("Mack", Pat. Pub. No. US 2002/0054115) and Waupotitsch et al. (U.S. Pat. No. 6,518,963).

Per claim 1, Mack teaches a method comprising:

displaying a first image on a web page (figs. 10 and 11; col. 5, [0029] and [0032]); selecting an image (figs. 10 and 11; col. 5, [0029] and [0032]);

sizing and positioning the selected image over a selected area of the first image (col. 5, [0030]);

projecting a second image onto the first image using the selected image as sized and positioned to form a composite image (col. 5, [0030]; col. 6, [0036]); and displaying the composite image to a user for accessing in an electronic commerce transaction (col. 6, [0036]).

Mack does not teach the selected image is an image of a 3-D mesh. However, Waupotitsch teaches an image of a 3D mesh (col. 2, lines 25-40; col. 4, lines 8-20). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include an image of a 3D mesh as taught by Waupotitsch in the invention Mack because it provide automatically generating 3D models within a limited time for use with the internet commerce and product design applications.

Per claim 2, Mack teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the first image comprises a digital photograph provided by the user, and the second image comprises text provided by the user (col. 4, [0026]; col. 5, [0032]).

Per claim 3, Mack teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising accepting or declining the composite image by the user (col. 6, [0034]).

Per claim 4, Mack teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising purchasing the composite image by the user in an electronic commerce transaction (col. 6, [0036]).

Per claim 5, Mack teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the first image comprises an image of a body part of a human being (col. 5, [0029], [0031] and [0032]).

Claims 6-10 are rejected under the same rationale as claims 1-5.

Per claim 11, Mack teaches a method of presenting a personalized image to a user comprises:

receiving a digital photograph from the user (figs. 10 and 11; col. 4, [0024]; col. 5, [0029] and [0032]);

receiving a first image from the user (figs. 10 and 11; col. 4, [0024]; col. 5, [0029] and [0032]);

providing a set of images (figs. 10 and 11; col. 5, [0029] and [0032]);

Art Unit: 2174

accepting a user selection for a selected one of the provided images (figs. 10 and 11; col. 5, [0029], [0031], and [0032]);

accepting sizing and positioning of the selected image over a selected area of the digital photograph (col. 5, [0030]);

projecting the first image onto the selected area of the digital photograph using the selected mesh image to form the personalized image (col. 5, [0030]; col. 6, [0036]); and displaying the personalized image to the user (col. 5, [0030]; col. 6, [0036]).

Mack does not teach the selected image is an image of a 3-D mesh. However, Waupotitsch teaches an image of a 3D mesh (col. 2, lines 25-40; col. 4, lines 8-20). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include an image of a 3D mesh as taught by Waupotitsch in the invention Mack because it provide automatically generating 3D models within a limited time for use with the internet commerce and product design applications.

Claim 12 is rejected under the same rationale as claim 2.

Claim 13 is rejected under the same rationale as claim 4.

Claim 14 is rejected under the same rationale as claim 5.

Claims 15-17 are rejected under the same rationale as claims 11, 4-5 respectively.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the amendment have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
